COUNCIL PLANS IMPROVEMENTS

Instructs Engineer to Make Estimate on Cost of Straightening Out Harrison Street.

WORK OUT BETTER DRAINAGE

Tunnel is Said to Have Larger Tile on One Side Than on Other.

The city council met in regular session last night with all the members present. Considerable business was transacted and many improvements were discussed. Ralph Payne, of the Peoples National bank asked the council to move the pole and fire plug that are located on Main street near the corner of Main and Second streets, around into Second street. The fire plug is now on the corner and the bank people wish it moved into Second street. The matter was referred to the water and light committee.

Joseph W. Miller petitioned the council to extend an electric line to his new residence in the Stewart & Tompkins addition. This was referred to the water and light committee. On motion of Councilman Orme the superintendent of the water and light plant was instructed to employ a man to investigate all water taps in the city. A house to house canvass will be made and in this way the condition of the taps and the number of people using city water will be determined.

On motion of Dr. Parsons the street committee will pave the intersection of Main and Twelfth streets in front of the C. M. George residence. When the street was put in it was not extended up to the property line and Mr. George desired to have the street bricked its entire width. The work will be done by the city and Mr. George is willing to be assessed for his part of the work. According to the city engineer's estimate the work will cost $240.

The city engineer will prepare plans and specifications for the improvement of Harrison street from Fourth street to Fifth street to make it conform with the street south of the C. H. & D. railway. The question of straightening the street came up after a petition for cement curb and gutter from Fifth street to Second street had been filed. Shortly after the petition had been presented a remonstrance was filed. The remonstrators are willing for the improvement provided that the city will straighten the street. The city does not desire to take any definite action until the cost of the proposed improvement has been determined. City Engineer Cameron will report at the next meeting.

The sewer committee will investigate the condition of the ditch in the alley just east of Perkins street, and between the C. H. & D. railway and Third street. The ditch, according to complaints, has failed to carry off the water and the recent flood made the residents near the ditch desire an improvement. The committee will make an effort to find a better drain. The committee will also investigate a tunnel going under the race near the Oneal Brothers' place. It is said the tunnel has a twelve inch tile on one side and a fifteen inch tile on the other. Because of this the water backs up and does not drain as it should.

The street committee will place a brick crossing at the intersection of Maple and Eighth streets. The mayor and clerk were instructed to borrow $400 to meet the expenses.

WAR ON FLY REACHES THE CITY SCHOOLS

One Teacher Give Pupils Permission to Swat 'Em no Matter What The Time or Occasion.

DEATH NOTICE OF FLIES READ

Verily, the war on the fly in Rushville has been started in earnest.

The school teachers have become imbued with the idea that a dead fly in April is worth a million in June, hence the unusual privilege that is granted the children in a certain room at Jackson school. The teacher has informed her pupils that she is resolved that the fly family thereabout shall meet an untimely end. To carry out this resolve, she has instructed the pupils that they may arise from their seats and swat a fly whenever they see one. It matters not what the occasion may be. If it is in the midst of a recitation, so be it. The fly that interferes shall die.

LOCAL MAN SEES RUINS OF DAYTON

BUSINESS MEN DISCOURAGED

After attending a meeting of the board of trustees of the northeastern Indiana insane hospital at Richmond, J. L. Cowing went over to Dayton, O., to view the havoc wrought by the flood, returning home late last night. He bought a number of views showing some of the worst parts of the devastation. One view depicts the entrance of the Arcade building, a very fine structure where the city market was located. Just next to the entrance is the cigar store formerly owned by T. W. Betker and Elmer Bohannon of this city. It is in ruins.

Mr. Cowing says that it will take years for Dayton to recover. He says the merchants are discouraged and some of them will not open up their business again. The work of cleaning up the debris is going on very slowly. A thousand men were to arrive there from Chicago today. Mr. Cowing says the large plate glass windows were shattered like paper by the water, and whenever there was an outlet at the back of the business houses flooded, everything was swept from the stores. Mr. Cowing's views show many freaks of the flood, one of which is a horse which was caught in a wire and was left suspended in the air, head down, when the water receded.

The street committee will place a brick crossing at the intersection of Maple and Eighth streets. The mayor and clerk were instructed to borrow $400 to meet the expenses.

FUND CLOSES WITH $1823.49

Women Giving Benefit Show at Palace Theatre Last Night Turn Over All of Proceeds.

PLEDGED ONLY TEN DOLLARS

Furniture is all Crated and Shipped to Connerville—J. W. Tompkins Wins Bedroom Suit.

The Brookville relief fund was increased from $1,818.04 to $1,823.49 last night after the fund was closed because of two unexpected things which happened, and this amount will be sent to Brookville this week some time.

Mrs. Jason Meyer, Mrs. Charles Lyons and Mrs. Mary E. Poston announced last week that they would give ten dollars to the fund and that they would make the money by giving a benefit show at the Palace theater. It was understood that they would give only ten dollars of the proceeds.

However, it was the intention of the women to give ten dollars anyway, whether or not they realized that much off the show, and all above that amount as well. They realized $14.45 off the show which was held last night, and turned it all into the fund today, increasing it by $4.45. The Palace show was a very enjoyable one, the management attempting to make a special feature program because of the occasion.

The other dollar came from Mrs. H. C. Webb, living on rural route four. It reached this office shortly after press time. It was intended by Mrs. Webb that it should be in the final list of contributions.

J. W. Tompkins won the bedroom suit which was raffled off last night about eight o'clock at Betker's store. The lucky number was 1430. The stubs of the tickets sold were placed in one cigar box and as many blanks in another. The word "suit" was written on three of the blanks. Two men drew from each box simultaneously, and the number drawn with a blank with the word written on it was the lucky one. Since the man holding 1430 was not present, the drawing continued until a second lucky number was drawn. The man holding that, Willard Amos, was there, and the drawing was stopped.

The boxes of tickets were placed above the heads of the men drawing the tickets out.

The furniture which was donated to the Brookville fund made two good loads on George C. Wyatt's motor truck. There were many good bedroom suits and one dining room suit in the lot. There were also the three stoves donated by local merchants and many rocking chairs and other articles of furniture. The furniture was hauled to Wyatt's in the truck, unloaded and crated, and then hauled to the I. & C. freight house for shipment to Connerville. Brookville will arrange to convey it from there.

It was originally intended to publish the names of every person who donated bed clothing and furniture, but this was soon found to be impossible. The donations came so fast that the plan had to be given up because of the other duties falling on the shoulders of the managers of the fund.

There is about one automobile load of things that should be taken to Brookville yet if anyone will volunteer their services. That which is left can not be packed very well so as to ship by the I. & C.

The pupils of the Falmouth-Fairview high school will present their play "A Rustic Romeo," Thursday night at Mays. The proceeds will go to the high school orchestra.

CAN GET RELIEF FROM AUDITOR

Property Owners Who Want Assessments Reduced as Result of Flood Loss Must Apply to Him.

J. F. MOSES CITES STATUTE

Where Loss is Covered by Insurance no Relief is Afforded—Doesn't Apply Now.

The state board of tax commissioners, which is now in session in Indianapolis, recently issued a statement to county assessors that the assessments of any property damaged by the flood should not be lowered because of the disaster, but it does not follow that people who lost because of the flood can not get recourse through the law. When the state issued its first notice, no mention was made as to how property owners could get their assessment reduced because of the heavy losses. The board merely said that all property in existence March first should be assessed.

County Assessor John F. Moses, however, says that the statutes afford relief in this instance, and he cites the following from Third Burns, Revised Statutes, section 10, page 1,147:

"In all cases where buildings or personal property shall be destroyed in whole or in part of unavoidable casualty after being assessed for the year, and such loss is not covered by insurance, the county auditor shall, upon sworn proof, of such loss, allow rebate of such proportions of the taxes for that year as that part of the year shall remain after such destruction, bears to the whole year."

Tornado or fire insurance would bar an application to the county auditor for relief. But in this instance, of course, insurance will cut no figure. No Rushville or Rush county property owners carried flood insurance and it is not known that anyone here was prepared to write flood insurance.

The statute further states that all proofs of loss must be presented to the county auditor by sworn statements or orally. The law provides that the official must have excellent proof of the loss to guard against any false statements.

It is not at all improbable that the county auditor will be swamped with property owners seeking relief from their assessments because the ruling of the state tax board will be adhered to by the assessors.

PAID FINE FOR SPEEDING

Allan Blackridge Pleaded Guilty Before Mayor Black.

Allan Blackridge pleaded guilty speeding this afternoon before Mayor Black and was fined one dollar and costs, amounting in all to eleven dollars. The offense occurred Monday. Mr. Blackridge went west on Second street too fast for the police. A crowd of youngsters had been joy riding in North Main street previous to this and the Blackridge car was at first thought to be this one. In the machine with Mr. Blackridge were Allen Hiner, Will Brann, Elmer C. Williams and John Carr.

Lawrence Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cole of Raleigh, sustained a painful injury to his left hand when he accidentally hit it with a hatchet while cutting a board. The ends of two fingers were cut off.

She suffered a stroke of paralysis at this time and since had gradually grown worse and death was expected. Mrs. Rollings was well known and for several years had assisted her husband in managing the hotel at Milroy. She is survived by her husband and two children, John and Miss Georgia Rollings. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

POSSIBILITIES FOR ROMANCE ARE GREAT

High School Students Have to Thank Sacramento Pupils Who Sent Them Packages of Poppy Seeds.

CARE IN THE DISTRIBUTION

A regular romance that would make good reading is likely to develop from the sending of an assortment of living poppy seeds by the students of the Sacramento, (Cal.) high school to the Botany students of the Rushville high school. You see, it's this way: Each student in the Sacramento school wrapped up a package of the seeds and sent their card on the package. When the seeds were distributed here, the packages which were wrapped by girls were given to boys and vice versa. One of the stipulations of the agreement is that each local pupil shall write to the pupil whose card was on his or her package and thank them for the gift. The possibilities are great for a real, living romance, one of the kind that does not happen between the covers of a well bound novel.

The recipients of the poppy seeds have their thinking caps on. They are going to put to use all of the fine terms they ever learned in their English classes, and they may work in a little German or Latin just for the novelty of the thing. At any rate the replies of thanks will be classics in their own class.

LOWEST BID IS TOO HIGH

It Exceeds Appropriation For Milroy School Building.

It was not expected that the Anderson township board of finance and the trustee would award the contract this afternoon for the Milroy school building to replace the one destroyed by fire last winter. There were three bids submitted at Milroy this afternoon and the lowest was $37,600. This is far in excess of the appropriation which was only $34,500. At a late hour this afternoon the board was still deliberating.

DOCTORS HAVE GIVEN UP HOPE

Vatican Admits That the Pope Is Dying.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE END

Consciously the Head of the Church Is Travelling Into the Valley of the Shadow of Death, Calmly and Serenely, Fearing No Evil—Vatican Officials Have Made Ready For Administration of the Last Sacrament.

Rome, April 16.—Undoubtedly the condition of the pope is very grave. There have been several incidents which show that the optimistic officials of the vatican can no longer resist the conviction that the end is near. Dr. Amici, after leaving the bedside for a few moments to speak to a friend, said, gravely: "I fear his holiness will not see the dawn of tomorrow."

The pope's cough is dry and persistent, the diminished expectoration aggravating the sufferings of the pontiff and increasing the danger of a collapse during one of the suffocating paroxysms.

The weakness of the pontiff is increasing and his fever also has increased. The physicians are administering inhalations and hypodermic injections, while oxygen tubes are kept in a room adjoining the pope's bedroom, ready for instant use. The doctors admit that a bacteriological examination of the sputum excretions confirms the report that the influenza is of an infectious character and has provoked inflammation which has spread to the lungs.

Mons. Caccia Dominini, the pope's private chamberlain, drove to the residence of Cardinal Vannutelli, the pope's confessor, to warn him of the possibility of his being summoned to the vatican at any moment. The chamberlain afterward visited Cardinal Oreglia, the dean of the sacred college, who is bedridden, and informed him that the condition of the pontiff was alarming. Cardinal Oreglia was told of this merely as a matter of courtesy, as he is unable to assume the government of the church during the vacancy of the holy see and is not likely to attend the conclave for the election of a new pope. Cardinal Oreglia formally notified Cardinal Merry Del Val that Cardinal Vannutelli, the sub-dean, must take his place.

Mons. Parolin, the pope's nephew, has urged Cardinal Merry Del Val to hasten the administration of the last sacraments, but the doctors pointed out that the pope could not retain the viaticum in his present condition. He could not retain it even if he were able to swallow the wafer. Moreover, in his present state the administration of the sacrament would be bound to cause deep emotion and would be apt to hasten his death. On the other hand, in case of a sudden emergency the sacraments could be administered by any of the prelates in attendance on the pontiff.

The pope's private secretary went to the railway station to meet the pontiff's aged brother Angelo, the postmaster of Corazio, who arrived at midnight. The brother of the pope and his nephew, Mons. Parolin, passed the night in the sickroom, where the pope's sisters, Maria and Anna, and his niece have been in almost constant attendance. It is known that Cardinal Merry Del Val does not wish the pope's sisters to be present at the end, as their emotion would be so great that it would mar the solemnity of the administration of the last sacrament, which, according to tradition, will be given by the cardinal plenipotentiary or by Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state himself, escorted by prelates bearing lighted torches, noble guards with drawn swords, and other officials.

The pontiff is said to realize that this is his last illness. He is serene and does not complain of any suffering. He submits calmly to the inhalations and injections and shakes his head sadly when efforts are made to feed him. Your correspondent is informed from an unquestionable source that the only danger of immediate death arises from suffocation.

THE TARIFF WAS THE ISSUE

Much Interest Taken in a Special Election Held in Massachusetts.

Boston, April 16.—The first electoral opinion of the new Democratic tariff bill was delivered yesterday in the Thirteenth Massachusetts congressional district, when John J. Mitchell, Democrat, was elected to the national house of representatives by a plurality which may exceed 4,000. The district normally is Republican by from 10,000 to 12,000.

The special election made necessary by the elevation of John Wingate Weeks to the senate, has been most bitterly contested by the Republicans, the Bull Moosers and the Democrats. All parties sent in good speakers and by unanimous consent the tariff was made the sole issue of the campaign. Theodore Roosevelt, Governor Stubbs and Bourke Cockran for the Progressives, gave all the assistance in their power to White, the Progressive, while just as prominent men from the ranks of the Republicans assisted Cutting, Republican nominee.

JAPAN REITERATES PROTEST

Despite Formal Representations That Proposed Legislation in California Would Be Regarded by the People of Japan as an Unfriendly Act, the Administration Decides to Maintain a Strictly "Hands Off" Attitude.

Sacramento, Cal., April 16.—The alien land bill has been passed by the assembly by a vote of 60 to 15. All attempts to amend the measure so that it would not be offensive to Japan failed. Attempts to amend it so that it applied only to aliens ineligible to citizenship failed likewise. This bill, it is understood, will not be approved by the senate. The senate is now considering a bill which applies to all aliens and makes no discrimination against Japanese. This bill has been drafted in response to suggestions from Secretary Bryan, and it will be in shape for passage by the end of the week.

Washington, April 16.—The anti-Japanese land legislation pending in the legislature of California was discussed by President Wilson and Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador. After leaving the White House Viscount Chinda went into conference with Secretary of State Bryan on the same subject. The result of the conference was not made known. It already has been made known, however, that the federal government will endeavor to serve as a go-between for Japan and California, with the object of ascertaining what would be most acceptable to both sides. Inasmuch as the Californians have said they are determined to eliminate the Japanese farmer from their state one way or another and that it is this determination rather than the technical phraseology of the bills to which Japan objects most, there is little real hope of bringing about a solution of the situation which shall be satisfactory to both sides. President Wilson has admitted about all the federal government can hope to do is to induce California to accomplish her purpose in the least offensive manner to Japanese sensibilities and with respect to the treaty rights of Japanese in this country.

The tone of the German press is very sharp, and further importance was added to the affair when Herr Von Jagow, the foreign secretary, made a statement in the Reichstag to the effect that the German ambassador at Paris had been instructed to ask the French government for an explanation. He said it would be regrettable if the newspaper reports were found to be correct. If they were found to be correct, the secretary said, then representations would be made to France.

FRANCE AND GERMANY OVER A POWDER MINE

Only a Spark Needed to Cause Explosion.

Berlin, April 16.—The animosity of the people of France and Germany is shown by the tension over a little incident at Nancy on Sunday, when some German drummers hissed a burlesque on the German army and were practically chased out of the theater. The German papers devote columns to this affair, which follows closely on the seizure of the German cruiser Z4 when she landed unexpectedly at Lunéville. It is claimed that the German commercial travellers were ill-treated and insulted by the French people at Nancy.

PERSONAL PLEA SAVED HIM

State Senator Stilwell's Colleagues Do as They Would Be Done By.

Albany, N. Y., April 16.—The Senate voted to acquit Senator S. J. Stilwell on a charge of extortion brought by President George H. Kendall of the New York Banknote company. Senator Stilwell saved the day for himself by making a personal plea from the floor of the senate that the senators treat him as they would ask him to treat them if they were in his position.

The roll call showed twenty-eight senators in favor of exonerating Senator Stilwell and twenty-one voted him guilty and to expel him from the senate.

Suffragettes Cause $50,000 Loss.

St. Leonards, England, April 16.—Suffragettes burned the handsome and costly seaside home of Arthur Phillip DuCros, member of parliament. Militant literature scattered about the grounds gave the police positive assurance that the women, or their henchlings, were responsible. The house was completely destroyed at a loss of $50,000.

SUNDAY MOBS MENACING

Suffragette Speakers Continue to Be Objects of Attack.

London, April 14.—The Women's Social and Political Union does not believe Mrs. Pankhurst, who was released Saturday, will be sent back to jail to serve out her prison term after she recovers from her present indisposition. This would surprise nobody, as it is understood that she is suffering from heart weakness.

The suffragettes again faced hostile crowds at their Sunday meetings at Hyde Park, Wimblod Common and Hampstead Heath. The police had to fight the mobs to save the women. The police expect there will be a tragedy some Sunday if the meetings are continued.

Caught Them Just in Time.

New York, April 14.—Four Italians were detected Sunday tunnelling into a pawnshop at 164 Bowery. The daring methods they used in attacking the solid brick wall four feet thick in the back of the pawnshop resemble in many particulars the robbery of the pawnshop of Martin Simons & Sons at 94 Hester street, on March 16, where the tunnellers got $300,000. This time the observant eye of a woman and the quick action of the police stopped the thieves just as they had dug their hole through the pawnshop vault.

Lightning's Peculiar Prank.

Rayne, Miss., April 14.—Lightning played a peculiar prank when it struck Pierre Desse, a farmer, driving along a road with a load of cottonseed, pain fully but not seriously injuring him. The lightning tore his hat, clothing and shoes to shreds, melting the eyelets out of his shoes and tearing the soles off. His trousers were torn as though slashed with a knife again and again. His two horses were both instantly killed.

PRICE OF BINDER TWINE TO GO UP

State Boosts It But It is Still Half Cent Less on Pound Than Trust Price.

PLACING RESPONSIBILITY

Binder twine is going to cost the farmers of Indiana "some" money this year, wherever they buy it.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the state prison with the governor and Warden E. J. Fogarty, at Indianapolis, the price of binder twine, if bought from the state institution at Michigan City, was fixed at 9 cents a pound in less than carload lots, f. o. b., Michigan City. This is well below the trust price, which is to be 9½ cents to dealers, the latter making an additional profit before the product reaches the ultimate consumer.

The increase in the cost of the product is due to an increase in the cost of sisal, a sort of caetus fiber that is used in the manufacture of binder twine. The Mexican wars and a gigantic pool, said to have been formed by Mexican bankers, to lend $15,000,000 to the planters of Mexico, thus throwing the entire sisal crop into their hands, are said to be responsible for the price raising.

LOOK YEARS YOUNGER! GRAY HAIR DARKENED BEAUTIFULLY WITH SAGE.

Says Sage and Sulphur Will Stop Falling Hair and Cure Dandruff.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, then left to age and carefully filtered will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss. Some druggists make their own, but it isn't nearly so nice as "Wyeth's."

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does it so naturally; so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this tonight and by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, after another application or two it will be restored to its natural color and be even more glossy, soft and luxuriant than ever.

Local druggists say they are selling lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and it surely helps folks appear years younger.

AWAITS APPOINTMENT OF NEW AMBASSADOR

Democrat Will Sign Pending Pact With Russia.

Washington, April 16.—The published report that the Russian government had requested the recall of Curtis Guild, ambassador to Russia, is denied by Secretary of State Bryan.

The fact is, Mr. Bryan said, that Mr. Guild requested and has been granted two months leave of absence, which he intends to spend at European health resort. It is understood that President Wilson hopes soon to be able to name Ambassador Guild's successor. He has already announced that no attempt will be made to negotiate a new treaty with Russia until a Democrat has been sent to St. Petersburg.

Among the nominations sent to the senate by President Wilson yesterday were these: Walter Hines Page, New York, to be ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Great Britain; John A. Osborne of Wyoming, to be assistant secretary of state; William H. Osborn of North Carolina, to be commissioner of internal revenue.

The sending of Dr. Page's appointment has waited merely upon receipt of formal notes of his acceptability from the British foreign office. Dr. Page, it is understood, is arranging his affairs as rapidly as possible for his departure for England.

The new assistant secretary of state is a former governor of Wyoming. Colonel Osborn, nominated to be commissioner of internal revenue, was one of the leaders of the Wilson pre-convention campaign in North Carolina. He is manager of a Keeley sanitarium at Greensboro, N. C.

ELECTRICITY TO IMPROVE FOOD IS LATEST THEORY.

Physicians at Berlin assert currents aid digestion.

An interesting feature of the session of the physiotherapy congress in Berlin recently was a report on the excellent work done at the French Radium institute by Drs. Wickham and Degrais. They have discovered that X rays destroy the sweat glands, seal up the blood vessels and have a selective influence on cancer cells, causing their replacement with normal cells instead of destroying them absolutely.

In the section for electrotherapy Dr. Bergonie of Bordeaux discussed the action of high frequency electric currents on metabolism. He said the efficiency of food was much increased by these currents. Seventy per cent of the food which passed through the body undigested could be taken up by the tissues when the currents were applied. The currents also destroyed certain microbes, particularly those of malaria.

Dr. Kraft of Weisser Hirsch, near Dresden, in a speech which was warmly applauded said it would be well to extend instruction in the preparation of food to housewives. He declared that vegetables especially lost a tremendous portion of their nourishing qualities when they were prepared in the usual German fashion. Dr. Kraft asserted that mankind's knowledge of foodstuffs was only fragmentary and that the method of estimating value by calories was "useless and bungling."

BEQUEATHED LAND TO GOD.

In Unique Deed New Jersey Man Thwarted Land Sharks.

While making search of titles of property in Sullivan county, Pa., agents of the Marine Trust company in Atlantic City, N. J., unearthed a freak deed dated in 1864, the provisions of which still stand.

Peter E. Armstrong, disgusted by the fight among neighbors for land and the operations of land sharks, decided to remove nearly 700 acres of land from the temptation of everybody from then on. He and his wife duly executed a deed in which they conveyed the splendid property to "God and his heirs in Jesus Messiah."

A copy of the deed was exhibited by Treasurer Joseph McNamee of the Marine company. He says its discovery solves a situation that has been puzzling people living near the property for years.

WOULD IMMUNIZE THE RACE.

Dr. Friedmann Urges Treatment of Infants.

Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann took advantage of his inactivity in New York recently to impress upon those who called on him the point in his work which he considers the most vital. That is the property of his tuberculosis culture, by which, with its use, he says, he is able to make the coming generation immune from the white plague.

The specialist from Berlin becomes very enthusiastic when he talks about the value of his preparation to newborn babies. He tells of the 350 which he treated in Berlin before they were three days old. This happened eighteen months or more ago, and in that time, he says, there have been no developments of disease or any other effects from the injections.

Co-operation Needed.

The present campaign against disease and preventable death is now about two decades old. The causes, methods of transmission and means of prevention of almost all infectious diseases have been discovered within that period. During this time each State has had some form of health organization; but owing to the diversity and limitations of laws in the different States, as well as to the rapidity with which our knowledge regarding the causation and prevention of disease has developed, State and local health boards have been supplemented, in many cases, by volunteer, philanthropic bodies, interested in some special phase of the health situation. These organizations have proved important factors in the general public health campaign.

Of late, however, it has been increasingly evident that with the multiplication of independent organizations there is danger of overlapping of function, interference in work, duplication of efforts and expenses, and—most important of all—lack of effective co-operation for want of a common program of procedure which would unite all organizations interested on a common platform, without interfering with the special work for which each organization was created.

After careful consideration of this problem, the Council of Health and Public Instruction of the American Medical Association, early in January, addressed a letter to the executive officers of thirty of the more important national organizations, suggesting a conference of executive officers to consider whether there is any overlapping of organizations and also whether there is, at present, any common ground for co-operation and mutual helpfulness among the organizations now in existence. This proposal was generally endorsed; and a second letter suggested that a conference be held in New York, Saturday, April 12, at the headquarters of the American Association for Labor Legislation, and asked for suggestions regarding other organizations interested.

After ordering the grocery team to drive out a mile and a half to deliver a yeast cake, the members of the Woman's Club listen to papers showing the cost of living to be due to the gold supply, tariff, and trusts.

It is announced that the public building bill for the new Congress will amount to $879,769,520,673,579,729.43, but it is not supposed that the members will consent to so moderate an outlay.

One out of every 47 who voted for Wilson is a candidate for office. Under existing circumstances, it looks like Mr. Wilson stood to lose about a forty-seventh of his vote at the next election.

(By Prof. J. H. Scholl.)

O. L. Raber, instructor in Science in the high school, took his class in Physics on an inspection trip last week. The object was to inspect the public utilities plant of the city. The plants visited were the Innis-Pearce Ice Plant, the City Water and Light Works, the I. & C. Power House, and the Co-operative Telephone Co. The class was very much interested in the large engines, the making of ice, the reservoir at the city plant, the electrical machinery, and the storage batteries at the telephone building. Automobiles were furnished by the students and the class was taken in sections two different days. The trip made the knowledge gained by study in the class practical as the plants were found in operation. The management at the different places were very obliging and courteous, for which the class and instructor are thankful.

Miss Nelle Baldwin, instructor in Latin, attended the ninth annual meeting of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South, at Indianapolis, Friday and Saturday of last week. Miss Baldwin is a member of the Association, having attended the meeting in Cincinnati a year ago. The meeting this year was well attended by many eminent college professors and enthusiastic high school teachers of the Classics. Drs. Hale, D'oge, and Kelsey were the best known authors present. Besides the many papers and addresses giving due emphasis to the value of the classics, the spirit of goodwill which pervaded the meeting was no little factor in making the meeting profitable. Many of the papers will be printed in the Classical Journal which is sent to all those who are active members of the association.

During the past winter, Miss Baldwin's Latin students have been making a Latin exhibit which is now on display in room 17 in the high school building. This exhibit displays the practical and cultural side of a study of the subject of Latin, and it is well worth the examination of the parents and all interested in high school work. The exhibit was seen by a large number during the art exhibit.

The public schools wish to thank the public for the interest and patronage during the art exhibit and play. The art exhibit was well worth the patronage of all. The study of pictures before the exhibit arrived made the exhibit especially valuable and pleasing to the pupils who were all given free admission during the daytime. But the visitors, while admitting that the exhibit was fine, were loud in their praise of the work executed by the pupils in sewing, drawing and manual work.

The comedy, "Mr. Bob," was a very pleasing entertainment and the entertainment and the work of Miss Robinette who coached the actors showed to fine advantage as each actor played his part so naturally and effectively that the audiences were delighted with the whole effect.

The financial outcome was very satisfactory despite the very bad weather. The gross receipts for the art exhibit were $96,52; expenses, $16,80; net receipts, $79,72. For the play the gross receipts were $116; expenses, $16; net receipts, $100.

Miss Katherine Petry's school won the prize for selling the most tickets for the exhibit from any one room. The picture is "The Horse Fair." The Jackson school won the prize for selling the most tickets for the building. The prize picture is "The Song of the Lark."

they will appoint a highway superintendent.

Rush county is a case in point. The board will become Democratic the first of next January when John E. Harrison, Republican, retires and William T. Moore, Democrat, takes his place. A brief summary of the law shows the following.

House bill 518 (Chapter 330), approved March 15, provides for the appointment of a county highway superintendent to have charge of the free gravel and macadam highways in the different counties. He is to receive $5 a day; but if the county has less than 400 miles of country highway he shall receive only $4 a day, and if the county has less than 200 miles of highway it shall not have a superintendent. He shall not make expenditures of more than $50 for the repair of any bridge or culvert without the approval of the board of commissioners. The superintendent shall appoint assistants, not exceeding four, for each one hundred miles or fraction thereof. These assistants shall have police powers over their respective roads, and shall be charged with the duty and authority to keep them in repair and to employ men and teams for that purpose. A tax levy of not exceeding 1 cent on each $100 for every ten miles of free gravel or macadamized or other improved road in the country shall constitute a gravel road fund.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Suspense.

Ten minutes after Sweetwater's arrival in the village streets, he was at home with the people he found there. His conversation with Doris in the doorway of her home had been observed by the curious and far-sighted, and the questions asked and answered had made him friends at once. Of course, he could tell them nothing, but that did not matter, he had seen and talked with Doris and their idolized young manager was no worse and might possibly soon be better.

Of his own affairs—of his business with Doris and the manager, they asked nothing. All ordinary interests were lost in the stress of their great suspense.

It was the same in the bar-room of the one hotel. Without resorting to more than a question or two, he readily learned all that was generally known of Oswald Brotherson. Every one was talking about him, and each had some story to tell, illustrative of his kindness, his courage and his quick mind. The Works had never produced a man of such varied capabilities and all round sympathies. To have him for manager meant the greatest good which could befall this little community.

His rise had been rapid. He had come from the east three years before to the west. Now, he was the one man there. Of his relationships east, family or otherwise, nothing was said. For them his life began and ended in Derby, and Sweetwater could see, though no actual expression was given to the feeling, that there was but one expectation in regard to him and Doris, to whose uncommon beauty and sweetness they all seemed fully alive. And Sweetwater wondered, as many of us have wondered, at the gulf frequently existing between fancy and fact.

Later there came a small excitement. The doctor was seen riding by on his way to the sick man. From the window where he sat, Sweetwater watched him pass up the street and take the road he had himself so lately traversed.

And so an hour—two hours passed. Others were watching the old horse now. The street showed many an eager figure with head turned northward. From the open doorways women stepped, looked in the direction of their anxiety and retreated to their work again. Suspense was everywhere; the moments dragged like hours. A sudden change took place in the aspect of the street; he saw people running, and in another moment saw why. The doctor had shown himself on the porch which all were watching. Was he coming out? No, he stands quite still, runs his eye over the people waiting quietly in the road, and beckons to one of the smaller boys. The child, with upturned face, stands listening to what he has to say, then starts on a run for the village. He is stopped, pulled about, questioned, and allowed to run on. Many rush forth to meet him. He is panting, but gleeful. Mr. Brotherson has waked up conscious, and the doctor says, "He will live."

CHAPTER XXV.

The Oval Hut.

That night Dr. Fenton had a visitor. Sweetwater, who knew when to be frank and open, as well as when to be reserved and ambiguous, made no effort to disguise the nature of his business or his enter cause or interest in Oswald Brotherson.

His first word, therefore, was a plain announcement.

"Dr. Fenton, my name is Sweetwater. I am from New York, and represent for the nonce, Mr. Challoner, whose name I have simply to mention, for you to understand that my business is with Mr. Brotherson, whom I am sorry to find seriously, if not dangerously ill. Will you tell me how long you think it will be before I can have a talk with him on a subject which I will not disguise from you may prove a very exciting one?"

"Weeks, weeks," returned the doctor. "Mr. Brotherson has been a very sick man and the only hope I have of his recovery is the fact that he is ignorant of his trouble or that he has any cause for doubt or dread. What then, if any intimation should be given him of the horrible tragedy suggested by the name you have mentioned? The man would die before your eyes. Mr. Challoner's business will have to wait."

"That I see; but if I knew when I might speak—"

"I can give you no date. You had better return to New York. Later, you can write me if you wish, or Mr. Challoner can. You may have confidence in my reply; it will not mislead you."

Sweetwater muttered his thanks and rose. Then he slowly sat down again.

"Dr. Fenton," he began, "you are a man to be trusted. I'm in a devil of a fix, and there is just a possibility that you may be able to help me out. It is the general impression in New York, as you know, that Miss Challoner committed suicide. But the circumstances do not fully bear out this theory, nor can Mr. Challoner be made to accept it. Indeed, he is so convinced of its falsehood, that he stands ready to do anything, pay anything, suffer anything, to have this distressing blight removed from his daughter's good name. Mr. Brotherson was her dearest friend, and as such may have the clew to this mystery, but Mr. Brotherson may not be in a condition to speak for several weeks. Meanwhile, Mr. Challoner must suffer from great suspense unless—" a pause during which he searched the doctor's face with a perfectly frank and inquiring expression—"unless some one else can help us out. Dr. Fenton, can you?"

The doctor did not need to speak; his expression conveyed his answer.

"No more than another," said he. "Except for what Doris felt compelled to tell me, I know as little as yourself. Mr. Brotherson's delirium took the form of calling continually upon one name. I did not know this name, but Doris did, also the danger lurking in the fact that he had yet to hear of the tragedy which had robbed him or this woman to whom he was so deeply attached. So she told me just this much. That the Edith whose name rung so continuously in our ears was no other than the Miss Challoner of New York of whose death and its tragic circumstances the papers have been full; that their engagement was a secret one unshared so far as she knew by any one but herself. That she begged me to preserve this secret and to give her all the help I could when the time came for him to ask questions. Especially did she entreat me to be with her at the crisis. I was, but his waking was quite natural. He did not ask for Miss Challoner; he only inquired how long he had been ill and whether Doris had received a letter during that time. She had not received one, a fact which seemed to disappoint him; but she carried it off so gaily (she is a wonderful girl, Mr. Sweetwater—the darling of all our hearts), saying that he must not be so egotistical as to think that the news of his illness had gone beyond Derby, that he soon recovered his spirits and became a very promising convalescent. That is all I know about the matter; little more, I take it, than you know yourself."

Sweetwater nodded; he had expected nothing from the doctor, and was not disappointed at his failure. There were two strings to his bow, and the one proving valueless, he proceeded to test the other.

"You have mentioned Miss Scott, as the confidante and only confidante of this unhappy pair," said he. "Would it be possible—can you make it possible for me to see her?"

It was a daring proposition; he understood this at once from the doctor's expression; and, fearing a hasty rebuff, he proceeded to supplement his request with a few added arguments, urged with such unexpected address and show of reason that Dr. Fenton's aspect visibly softened and in the end he found himself ready to promise that he would do what he could to secure his visitor the interview he desired if he would come to the house the next day at the time of his own morning visit.

This was as much as the young detective could expect, and having expressed his thanks, he took his leave in anything but a discontented frame of mind. In the time which must elapse between that happy hour and the present, he would circulate and learn what he could about the prospective manager. But he soon found that he could not enter the Works without a permit, and this he was hardly in a position to demand; so he strolled about the village instead, and later wandered away into the hollow.

Struck by the inviting aspect of a narrow and little used road opening from the highway shortly above the house where his interests were just then centered, he strolled into the heart of the spring woods till he came to a depression where a surprise awaited him, in the shape of a peculiar structure rising from its midst where it just fitted, or so nearly fitted that one could hardly walk about it without brushing the surrounding tree trunks. Of an oval shape, with its door facing the approach, it nestled there, a wonder to the eye and the occasion of considerable speculation to his inquiring mind. It had not been long built, as was shown very plainly by the fresh appearance of the unpainted boards of which it was constructed; and while it boasted of a door, as I've already said, there were no evidences visible of any other break in the smooth, neatly finished walls. A wooden ellipse with a roof but no windows; such it appeared and such it proved to be. A mystery to Sweetwater's eyes, and like all mysteries, interesting. For what purpose had it been built and why this isolation? It was too flimsy for a reservoir and too expensive for the wild freak of a crank.

A nearer view increased his curiosities. In the projection of the roof over the curving sides he found fresh food for inquiry. As he examined it in the walls he made around the whole structure, he came to a place where something like a hinge became visible and further on another. The roof was not simply a roof; it was also a lid capable of being raised for the air and light which the lack of windows necessitated. This was an odd discovery.

The driver who had paused for orders. "When I swing the doors wide, drive straight in."

Sweetwater took a look at the wagon. It was piled high with large wooden boxes on more than one of which he could see scrawled the words: O. Brotherson, Derby, Pa.

This explained his presence, but the boxes told nothing. They were of all sizes and shapes, and some of them so large that the assistance of another man was needed to handle them. Sweetwater was about to offer his services when a second man appeared from somewhere in the rear, and the detective's attention being thus released from the load out of which he could make nothing, he allowed it to concentrate upon the young girl who had it in charge and who, for many reasons, was the one person of supreme importance to him.

She had swum; open the two wide doors, and now stood waiting for horse and wagon to enter. With locks flying free—she wore no bonnet—she presented a picture of ever-increasing interest to Sweetwater. Truly she was a very beautiful girl, buoyant, healthy and sweet; as unlike as possible his preconceived notions of Miss Challoner's humble little protege. Her brown hair, of a rich chestnut hue, was in itself a wonder.

Sweetwater watched her with admiration as she superintended the unloading of the wagon and the disposal of the various boxes on the floor within; but as nothing she said during the process was calculated to afford the least enlightenment in regard to their contents, he presently wearied of his inaction and turned back toward

TO REPAIR THE SERIOUS LOSSES

MR. BICKNELL ON THE GROUND

National Director of the American Red Cross Holds a Conference With Governor Ralston and Representatives of Flood-Stricken Committees in This State With a View to Equitable Distribution of Funds.

Indianapolis, April 16.—National Director Ernest P. Bicknell of the American National Red Cross, spent last evening reviewing statements made by representatives of relief committees of fourteen Indiana cities which suffered serious losses by the recent flood, and at 10 o'clock this morning met with Governor Ralston to decide where financial assistance to rehabilitate damaged homes shall be sent.

Mr. Bicknell said that money will be sent to Indiana flood-damaged cities and towns by installments. Until the extent of damage entailed in southern states now affected by the flood is determined the Red Cross will not know what new demands for aid will be received, and until then it will be in doubt about the amount of money available for use in Indiana. For this reason all the money to be expended in Indiana cities will not be distributed at once.

Members of relief committees of various communities seriously affected by the flood were present at the hearing held in the governor's office. The conference had been arranged to permit Mr. Bicknell to learn the needs of Indiana in the shortest possible time.

CAUCUS ON TARIFF BILL

Efforts Made to Amend Agricultural Schedule Defeated.

Washington, April 16.—Every effort made in the Democratic caucus to amend the agricultural schedule was defeated. Representative Levy wanted wheat transferred to the free list, but hastily took his seat in the face of the chorus of noes. Debate was then begun on the cotton schedule, after which Schedule K, the wool schedule, will be taken up. The biggest fight of the caucus is expected on this schedule, but the leaders are convinced it will be adopted as reported by the committee.

THEIR LICENSES AT STAKE

Three Bloomington Druggists to Be Tried by State Board.

Bloomington, Ind., April 16.—The trials of Harry Wood, Robert Beckman and Hiriam Colvin, pharmacists of this city, who are charged with allowing their certificates to be used where liquor is sold illegally, will be held in this city Friday afternoon. The three men named were pharmacists in drug stores where "blind tiger" raids were recently made. The entire state board of pharmacy will be here to sit as a court.

Smallpox Scare at South Bend.

South Bend, Ind., April 16.—Max Quimby, who has been plying his trade as a barber unrestrained, was found to have smallpox and was at once taken to the pesthouse. For more than a week Quimby had been suffering with what he called a rash. Meantime he kept at his work and shaved many persons each day. An examination by a physician proved that his complaint was smallpox.

Caught Finger Ring on Nail.

Shelbyville, Ind., April 16.—When Horace Wagner fell from the mow of his barn a heavy signet ring caught on a nail, leaving him suspended by his finger. His finger was lacerated, but he was able to save himself by grasping a ladder.

Elwood Out of Coal.

Elwood, Ind., April 16.—For the first time in the city's history there is an absolute famine in both hard and soft coal here. Many families are living without heat and having to burn boxes and kindling wood for fuel in preparing meals. Not a single car of coal has been received here since the flood and several factories have announced that they will be compelled to close down.

Thieves Threaten Their Victims.

Princeton, Ind., April 16.—Wholesale thefts of chickens and provisions are reported at Somerville, in the southeast part of this county. The work appears to be that of a regularly organized gang of thieves. In some instances residents have been threatened with their lives if they made complaint.

Evidence of Insanity.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 16.—A man giving the name of Alex Shultz tore up $43 in bills and threw the bits into a sewer. He is held pending an investigation as to his sanity.

: Save Work and Fuel :
If you use CLARK'S PURITY FLOUR you can bake a double batch of bread at one time, and bake less often. For CLARK'S PURITY bread keeps fresh, and retains its sweetness and flavor longer than any other bread. This saves the work and fuel cost of several baking days EACH MONTH. The reason CLARK'S PURITY makes better bread, with better keeping qualities than other bread is because it is an absolutely CLEAN FLOUR.

LETTER TELLS OF COLUMBUS FLOOD

Miss Roberta Harris Writes of Some of The Harrowing Details of The Recent Deluge.

STORIES OF SUFFERING

Miss Roberta E. Harris, formerly of this city and sister of L. B. Harris, has just written friends here of the incidents of the flood in her home city, Columbus, O. She says 20,000 are homeless and that nearly 100 bodies have been recovered. Relief work is being done by the Red Cross society. The water was fifteen feet deep on the west side.

The letter states that a friend of George Nichols, who married Miss Ethel Amos of this city, lost three of his children in the flood after he and they were swept off the roof of their home. He found refuge with twelve others in a tree top. They remained there two days in the drenching rain and five fell into the swift current, either dead or exhausted. She says many dreadful stories are being told of suffering before motor boats were procured for rescue purposes.

CHURCH HAS GOOD REPORT

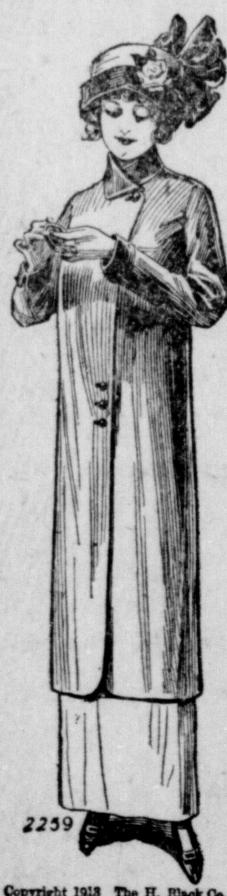

First Presbyterian Congregation's to Whitewater Presbytery.

The annual meeting of the Whitewater Presbytery, of which the First Presbyterian church of this city is a member, closed at Connersville yesterday. The report of the activities of the Rushville church, as read to the assemblage of delegates, was said to be the best report ever made by the local congregation. It showed all departments to be in a flourishing condition. Will Wallace was a delegate from the Rushville church. The next meeting of the presbytery will be held at Rising Sun, Ind.

QUIET IN COURT.

L. L. Broaddus, of Connersville, who is to act as special judge in a number of cases here, was on the bench this morning but very little was done. The case of William Orme, et al., against the city of Rushville et al., to quiet title and partition was to have been heard today, but was carried over until tomorrow. Most of the cases set for this week have been put down for trial next week.

Will Bowen will build another garage on the back end of the Charles Brooks lot, which will open on the alley just north of the opening to his present garage. The new building will be used for repair work and "dead" storage and present garage will be used for storage and the sale of supplies.

County Superintendent Says it Would be no Trouble to Obtain Signatures For County Agent.

OR $500 TO MAKE DEPOSIT

Services of Agent Would be Worthless Unless Farmers Were in Sympathy With Project.

It is likely that at the next meeting of the county board of education blanks will be given to the various township trustees to be distributed among the farmers in their township for signature. The affixing of the signature to a blank will be the same as signing a petition for a county agent to be employed by Rush county, according to the provisions of the new vocational educational law.

This section of the law requires that at least twenty farmers shall sign the petition for a county agent and that they shall place on deposit five hundred dollars to show their good faith in the project. The law provides this money shall be used to defray the first expenses of the agent.

"It is felt that there will be no difficulty in obtaining the five hundred dollar deposit," says C. M. George, county superintendent of the schools, who is anxious that a county agent be employed.

"What we want is the sentiment in favor of the project," Mr. George continued. "Unless the farmers are in sympathy with a county agent provided he is employed, we can accomplish little or nothing. We want to be sure that the farmers favor the employment of an agent before an effort is made to get the twenty signatures to the petition and the deposit of five hundred dollars. Unless the farmers will work in conjunction with a county agent and will heed his suggestions, his work will be out."

Mr. George says that counties all over the state are preparing to take advantage of this section of the new law. The statute provides only the first thirty counties applying can appoint a county agent. The others will have to wait another year, when thirty more may have county agents. Those remaining can not appoint a county agent until the third year.

The county superintendent says that in many counties the farmers appreciate the new law and are leaving no stone unturned to put it in effect. In many places, he declares, the township trustees are working in conjunction not only with the farmers but with the farmers' institutes and the fair associations.

The county board will go to Carthage next Monday to inspect the work of the industrial department of the school. The board has been invited by the superintendent, S. B. Walker. Many of the trustees will go in automobiles and others will make the trip on the Big Four. The Carthage school industrial department is said to be far in advance of many schools in this part of Indiana.
